Powder Blue Flash Fly:

Materials Needed:

Hook/Shank: Fly Men Waddington Shank, Tube, or Daiichi up-eye salmon hook.

Tail: Black Regular Flashabou

Eyes: Gold Bead Chain

Body 1: Rainbow Flashabou

Body 2: Yellow Holographic Flashabou

Overwing: Blue UV Krystal Flash mixed with Hot Pink Krystal Flash

Steps for tying this fly:

1. Tie in the bead chain eyes at the front of the hook behind the eye.
2. Bring the thread to the back, and tie in the black flashabou tail.
3. Bring the thread midway up the hook, and tie in the rainbow flashabou. Tie it as a wing over and under the hook.
4. Tie in the yellow holographic flashabou just a bit behind the eyes, on the top side of the hook
5. Tie in a final overwing of several strands of UV Blue Krystal Flash mixed with Pink Krystal Flash

Comments:

A simple fly, easy to tie, that consistently catches fish in low water or in the brush. The key to using nothing but flash in a pattern is to use flash of several consistencies. This fly utilizes coarse and soft flashy materials to give it a nice profile.

Waddington Shanks are used quite a bit with this fly. After a hook is inserted in the bend of the shank, a needle nose pliers is used to bend it shut. When fishing brushy areas, the hook can be replaced if bent on a snag.
